EMS BAGS

The purpose of this training is to actually physically go through the different bags or kits we carry on the apparatus. All too often it tends to be the same people doing the checks and retrieving supplies from the bags. As a crew, go through each individual bag one at a time and refresh your memories as to where things like oxygen and trauma supplies are located.

Not only do we need to know where things are located, but how to use them. Things that people still have a problem constructing like the in-line-nebulizer should be assembled.

Please take the time to do this training thoroughly, there is nothing more frustrating as a medic or even an EMT then to have to wait for your partner to locate equipment. For as often as we use them, we should know the contents of the bags backward and forward.

Take at least an hour to complete this training, fill out a St. A's CE form and submit to the HCTC for record keeping.
